MEETING OF MEX. CONGRESS

BODY ELECTED BY HUERTA'S ORDERS NOW ORGANIZED. RUMORS OF RESIGNATION

City of Mexico, Nov., 17.—Organization of President Huerta's new Congress was completed late today when enough Senators were gathered to form a quorum in the upper house.

Gen. Francisco Ponces was chosen temporary chairman of the Senate and a committee on credentials was appointed. Asimilar committee of the Chamber of Deputies today began the work of revising the Deputies' credentials and there is nothing to indicate that the formal opening of Congress next Thursday will be postponed.

President talked tonight informally to the members of his staff and a few personal friends regarding the possibility of intervention by the United States. He intimated that he would be ready to resist such a step.

The opinion is expressed in various circles here that the United States will soon inaugurate a blockade of Mexican ports. Rumor has it that President Wilson would be content with such an action and might even permit the embassy to remain in the City of Mexico until an open rupture occurred.

Break Expected Soon

An early severance of relations between the United States and Mexico is regarded here as inevitable. None of the newspapers, whether printed in English or Spanish, published more than the briefest dispatches today referring to relations between the two countries and no indication was given in these of the intention of Washington toward Mexico.

Whether the United States Embassy is to remain or be immediately withdrawn appears to be a matter of which Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American Charge himself is uncertain. The staff of the embassy is ready to leave at a moment's notice and little surprise would be felt here, although much alarm would be caused, in case Mr. O'Shaughnessy and his establishment should take the evening train to Vera Cruz.

There was considerable gossip in political circles today of further changes in the Mexican Cabinet. Gen. Aureliano Blanquet, Minister of War, is said to have had a misunderstanding with President Huerta which may cause him to leave his post.

With the departure of Aldape foreigners here feel that the Cabinet has lost one of its most level-headed members, an official whose moderation could be depended upon. His successor has not been chosen.

Plan to Resign?

That Gen. Huerta intended to resign upon the convening of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies on Thursday was the substance of a report revived here today. The report was based on an alleged statement of a new Deputy.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy at 10:30 o'clock this morning said he had received no indication from Washington that he would close the embassy. The Charge appeared to have abandoned hope of any renewal of negotiations with the Mexican Government and he said he simply was awaiting orders.

Gen. Huerta regards his part in the recent exchange of communications as finished.

What further move may be taken at Washington is a question which neither the Mexicans nor foreigners here find an easy one to answer, but there was noticeable today an increasing expectation that the United States would continue her hands off policy. This was not the predominating belief, but those who expressed it pointed out that there was an element at Washington which would be contented to see the Federalists and Constitutionalists play their game to the finish, the recent taking of Juarez by the rebel forces being cited as perhaps an encouragement of such a disposition at Washington.

Ardmore, Okla., Nov., 18.—Commissioner of Highways, Sidney Suggs, is pleased over the announcement that as many as one hundred trustees will be taken from the state penitentiary and placed to work on the old trails road lading north of McAlester. The board of prison control will undertake this work to try the experiment, they will feel of their way closely and if the experiment proves to be successful it will mean that the work will be organized and extended to every county in the state.

In the meantime Mr. Suggs is gathering statements from other states which have employed convict labor on the public roads and is putting a great deal of nervous energy into his work of arranging for the improvement of the roads by means of convict labor.

CREAMERY MAN PLEASED WITH ADA

The creamery proposition mentioned by the News a few days ago is now under serious consideration. W. L. Colvert of LaFayette, Ind., was in the city Monday making a careful investigation of the field; and stated to the News that the outlook was most promising. He and his brother are the men behind the enterprise.

Of course there are not nearly enough cows in reach of Ada at present to supply a creamery, but if a market is provided, it is believed that there will be no trouble in inducing the farmers to largely increase their herds. An industry of this kind would bring in a great deal of money from the outside to be turned loose through out the country, thereby adding to its prosperity.

EVOLUTION OF CHEROKEE NATION

By E. A. MacMillan.

No Indian tribe connected with the history of American advancement and achievements has had as an eventful career as the Cherokees. For over two hundred years, under great stress of conditions, that they had no part in creating or moulding, they strove with patience and fortitude to maintain an existence as a people. The unequal strife has ceased. Their bravery and forbearance; their efforts and achievements illumine the pages of our history and is a splendid heritage to those of our citizens who claim descent from them. By degrees they were driven from their ancestral domain to an unknown region and in that region they made their final stand as a nation and today that formerly unknown region is the busy workshop of a progressive and hospitable people—a development in industrial achievements never before equalled in the history of America.

From the year 1838, when the Cherokees were forced from their homes east of the Mississippi river to the hour of their demise as a nation they have been an active agency around which the civilization of the southwest has been extended. They labored to establish schools and churches. Their influence has always been exerted toward morality and progress, and in the years that intervened between 1866, when a re-affirmation of the treaties existing prior to the war was consummated, until the end of their national entity they have ever been progressive and have marked influence on other Indians.

The treaty of 1866 contained a proviso that, under certain conditions, other tribes could be admitted into the nation or settled upon unoccupied Cherokee territory. The first tribe to avail themselves of the provisions of the treaty was the Delawares who, to the number 985, paid into the Cherokee treasury $279,434.65 and thereafter were officially known as Cherokees.

The Museses in 1867, a fragmentary band, were next assimilated. The Navajos endeavored, through the Commissioner of Indian Affairs to secure affiliation but were rejected. In 1869 the Shawnees transferred to the Cherokees their annual annuity of $5000 and the $50,000 derived from land sale and 770 Shawnees removed to the territory.

In 1872 the Osages consummated their selection of land in the Cherokee country, after several years of difficulty and were established as a distinct tribe, containing 1,470,059 acres for which an agreed price of 70c per acre was fixed by President Grant. The purchase of this tract of land by the Osages proved a most profitable investment for in forty years the section has developed into one of the most remarkable oil and gas fields in the country and making the tribe the wealthiest band of Indians on the continent, and perhaps the wealthiest nation in the world.

The Pawnees, in 1876, were removed from Nebraska and assigned land in the Cherokee country securing 230,014 acres from the Cherokees and 53,006 acres from the United States government paying 70c per acre.

In the year following the removal of the Pawnees, the Poncas were forced from their Nebraska homes, by the threat of military force and given 101,894 acres for which the government paid the Cherokees 47.49 cents per acre.

The Nez Percés, the remnant of Chief Joseph's band who surrendered to Gen. Nelson A. Miles in 1877 to the number of 431, were given 90,735 acres at the same price paid by the Poncas and were removed from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas where they had been held prisoners.

The Otoes and Missourias were removed from Nebraska in 1881 and placed on a reservation containing 129,113 acres paying for the same the price fixed for the Poncas.

The Cherokee Indians, since the first treaty entered into in 1721 has relinquished to the American people 139,632 square miles of land or 89,365,146 acres—an area nearly as large as Delaware, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Georgia, Maryland, Connecticut and Massachusetts, and larger than any one state in the union except Texas.

ESCAPED LIKE THAW

John Armstrong Chaloner Fled From New York Asylum.

After Millionaire Had Announced Strange Beliefs His Family Had Him Adjudged Insane—Husband of Amelle Rives.

New York.—The sensational escape of Harry K. Thaw, the millionaire slayer of Stanford White, from the hospital for criminal insane at Matteawan, N. Y., recalls the romantic, tragic story of John Armstrong Chaloner, or Chaloner, as he chooses to call himself.

Chaloner is the great-great-grandson of the first John Jacob Astor. He was a blue-blooded aristocrat, scientist, author, millionaire and social lion. He formerly was the husband of Amelle Rives, the authoress, now the Princess Troubetzkoy.

Chaloner was a devotee of the occult, studied closely the psychic, which has since come into better repute, was a Buddhist, went into trances and traveled the world over in search for adventure.

His family wasn't partial to his vagaries and in 1897 succeeded in having him adjudged insane in the supreme court of New York and committed to the Bloomingdale asylum by the testimony of several experts, among whom were Dr. Augustus Flint, the expert of New York, who testified in all the criminal proceedings against Thaw.

His sensational escape from the asylum four years later, after he had got into secret communication with his lawyers, despite the regulations of the institution, corresponds to that of Thaw in many respects.

The escape was planned for months in advance. Chaloner won the confidence of the management by slow degrees. In time he was allowed to leave the grounds unattended. He learned the train schedules at the neighboring stations.

Under an assumed name he corresponded with a friend who often met him and provided him with money. Thanksgiving eve, 1900, he walked ten miles to a station, boarded a train and landed in Philadelphia.

There he immediately placed himself in a sanitarium under the constant observation of a specialist. He lived under an assumed name and was in hiding nearly a year. Meanwhile, half a dozen times, bodies were found and identified as that of Chaloner, the escaped monomaniac.

After a year's treatment in Philadelphia Chaloner went to Albemarle county, Virginia, the home of his former wife, where he established his legal residence. Then he appeared in a Virginia court one day with a mass of expert testimony and had himself declared legally sane. The courts of South Carolina subsequently tried his case and approved the judgment of Virginia.

Thus Chaloner lives today on "Merry Hills," his Virginia plantation, declared sane by two states and at liberty to go any place in the country save New York, where his status still is that of an escaped lunatic, and where his family waits to have him cast back into an asylum cell.

For sixteen years he has fought with extraordinary cunning and the power of his great wealth in almost every court in the country to establish his mental integrity. A suit for the recovery of $1,500,000 held for him by a court's committee in New York on the ground that he is insane still is pending.

YOUTH SAVES TWO IN HOUR

Boy Rescues Girl Whose Brother Rocked Boat, Then Swimmer in Distress.

Newburg.—Twice within one hour Oswald Dell, twelve years old, of New York, saved the life of a girl older than himself in Orange lake.

Fannie Mongolde, thirteen years old, of New York was playing in a boat with her brother when the boy rocked the boat and the girl fell out. Unable to swim, she would have drowned had not Dell been attracted by her cries. The girl drew him under water, but he succeeded in getting her ashore.

The lakelike was still ringing his praises when Helen Crook, thirteen years old, of this city waded beyond her depth. Her cries again attracted Dell and he rushed to her rescue. The girl disappeared under water before he managed to get her and brought her ashore. The girl was unconscious when taken from the water.

BACHELOR TAX WOULD HELP

Considerably Over Million Men Would Have to Pay in Great Britain.

London.—If the British legislature were to follow the French proposal of a tax on bachelors over thirty years of age, 1,146,571 men in England and Wales would be liable to it, according to the last census returns.

The proportion of bachelors to married men is steadily increasing, and there is a growing tendency to postpone the age of marriage. The County of London contains 81,190 bachelors between the ages of thirty and forty.

This evening a farewell reception will be given to Rev. C. L. Brooks and family at the Methodist church. All members of the church are invited to attend. It will be held after the services at the Presbyterian church. It is with profound regret that not only the Methodist church, but the entire community, parts with this estimable family. During his two years as pastor Mr. Brooks has been a most able leader and the church has prospered greatly under his pastorate. While regretting to lose him, all will rejoice that his ability has been given substantial recognition by a well earned promotion.

PHI DELTA DEFEATS FORUM

PRELIMINARY CONTEST BETWEEN DEBATING SOCIETIES OF THE NORMAL

In a joint debate between the Phi Delta and Forum debating societies Monday evening, the decision of the judges went strongly for the negative.

The question under discussion was, Resolved that the public recall of judges is consistent with good government.

The affirmative argument was produced by Messrs. Hale, Angle and Snow, representing the Forum, while the strong argument for the negative was brought back by Messrs. Peck, Kerr and Simmons, representing the Phi Delta.

The argument for the affirmative surpassed what was expected. The main argument was showing the bribery and corruption of the judge, also upholding that the people were competent of recalling a judge.

Peck, the first speaker on the negative presented the origin of the recall, while Kerr, the second for the negative brought up the complete history of the judiciary all the way from the Orient to the present time, showing the evils of the recall.

Mr. Simmons, the last speaker for

This is the first year of the Phi-Delta but it has now established its existence. Its membership is composed of a squad of boys who do things and are anxious to make good.

The friendly rivalry now existing between the two clubs will undoubtedly keep the spirit of oratory high, and will be a great factor in helping to win the state debate which will come later. (Contributed)

Hobday! Blood Free of Impurities

Eczema Gone! Acne, Tetters,
Rash, Pimples, Carbuncles, Boils—Banished!

S. S. S. Drives the Demons of Bad Blood Back to the Woods.

The under layer of skin is a fine network of tiny blood vessels in which the famous blood remedy, S. S. S., works with remarkable activity. This is why S. S. S., the best known blood purifier, has such a positive action in the skin. There is one ingredient in S. S. S. which peculiarly stimulates cellular or glandular activity to select from the blood or from this fine network of blood vessels in the skin, those elements which it requires for regeneration.

Thus, pimples, acne, eczema, lupus, or any other blood condition that attacks the skin or seeks an outlet through the skin, is met with the anti-toxic effect of S. S. S.

Under the influence of S. S. S. this fine network of blood vessels in the skin is constantly taking from the blood the nutrition required for healthy tissue, and the cause of disease is just as constantly becoming removed, scattered and rendered harmless. These facts are more fully explained in the book on skin troubles sent by The Swift Specific Co., 150 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores. Get a bottle to-day and banish all skin afflictions.

SIMPLIFIED SPELLING DEFERRED

After the Missouri State Teachers' Association, by a close vote of a comparatively small attendance of the membership, had adopted a resolution in favor of "simplified spelling" the matter was reconsidered, following a recess, and action was postponed for another year. Dr. J. M. Greenwood, so long the head of the Kansas City schools, was the most active opponent of the resolution and intimated that the people who do not know how to spell are the principal advocates of the reform.

Simplified spelling is a misnomer. It might better be called complicated spelling for it produces uncertainty, being as much a sheer work of memory as old-fashioned spelling and without the aid that etymology renders under it. Purely phonetic spelling would be simple, provided the speller were sure of his pronunciation. But there is a wide divergence of pronunciation, as was so frequently illustrated during the session of the teachers. Lecturers of note exercised the greatest liberty of personal choice in pronunciation, in some cases exhibiting a striking independence of the lexicographers. Simplified spelling so called, is exceedingly arbitrary and its general introduction would be followed soon by bewildering orthographical variety.

Spelling has been greatly simplified during the past century. The final "k" has been dropped from critic, comic, chronic and a great many other words. In America labor, savor, savor and like words omit the "u" to which the English still cling. Much of this is due to the work of Noah Webster, who also formulated a rule for the doubling of the final consonant when preceded by a single vowel. In America traveled, worshiped, kidnapped and like words have the single consonant, the accent being recessive. England has steadfastly refused to heed the rule, but even Mr. Webster found that there was a limit to the process of simplifying our spelling. He wrote one book in "simplified spelling," but soon gave up the fight, even as President Roosevelt did nearly three-quarters of a century later. Gould Brown, author of the "Grammar of English Grammars," ridiculed the great lexicographer out of court. Among the questions asked Mr. Webster was why he used the "dge" in "nolodge" and why he stuck to the unphonetic "know." Aside from a prevalent conservatism of our people in matters of this kind, there is another reason why schemes have failed. The chief one is the loss of the key to derivation of our words, which have been called "fossilized poetry" and "faded metaphors." While the basis of our language is Anglo-Saxon, the Latin Greek and French derivatives are so numerous that scholars are reluctant to see a plan of spelling adopted that would make the derivation of words obscure and rob them of all the romance of history they contain. This wealth of poetry was never more strikingly set forth than in the lectures on the study of words which Archbishop Trench gave the dean of Westminster. —Globe-Democrat.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC STRIKE IS OVER

Houston, Tex., Nov. 17.—The strike of operating employees of the Southern Pacific line in Texas and Louisiana was ended today when the railroad officials yielded to the demands of the men to meet a federated committee of the four unions involved in the controversy. The men were ordered to resume work immediately.

The termination of the strike was brought about by the action of the road and its employees in accepting the proposal of the federal board of mediation and conciliation, that the railroad should meet the committee. The proposal was sent from Washington last night by the board.

Word of the settlement was at once sent to President Wilson, who has been interested because of the position which the transportation lines along the Mexican border occupy in relation to any movement of the border patrol to enforce neutrality.

The strike was put into effect promptly at 7 o'clock Thursday night when approximately 2,500 skilled employees went on strike as the culmination of six months negotiations between their four unions and the road which failed amicably to adjust alleged grievances.

Four unions were involved in the strike, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, Order of Railway Conductors and Order of Railway Trainmen.

They claim they were unable to get a satisfactory settlement of a list of sixty-seven grievances and the observance of their contract through their respective organizations and when they combined their forces President G. S. Waid of the Sunset Central declined to meet the joint committee. The officials claim that such was contrary to existing agreements and denied charges of infraction of contracts.

This precipitated a referendum strike vote, which was overwhelmingly affirmative and culminated in the strike Thursday.

PUT $7,000,000 IN CHURCHES

Protestants Build Magnificent Structures in New York Downtown Section.

New York.—New York city is held to be the most difficult church field in the world because of its high land values, its excessive salaries to clergy, higher than any other city, and its downtown problems, which now extend to all of Manhattan island and fully half of Brooklyn. For Protestants it is held to be especially difficult because 1,350,000 of its Christians are Roman Catholics. At the same time there are 300,000 Jews in the city.

Yet this fall new edifices for Protestant work are to be opened to the value of $7,000,000. Almost all of these edifices are in what are termed downtown districts. What is more, every dollar is subscribed. Every building opens without mortgage debt. While the Episcopal cathedral of St. John the Divine is taking large sums, not a dollar of the sum named is represented by it. A very small part represents buildings on the cathedral grounds, but nothing of the cathedral itself, or any of its chapels. In almost all cases it represents only buildings to be actually thrown into use this October. Beside it, for future openings, there are under construction downtown structures to the value of about $2,000,000, for which all the money is subscribed.

In Brooklyn, in its farthest downtown section, the Beecher Memorial is to be opened in October, in connection with Plymouth church. Its cost exceeds $550,000. A new Baptist church is building in Manhattan at a cost of $400,000. The famous Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church is being enriched at a cost of $75,000, and the West End Presbyterian enlarged at a cost of $60,000. One new Presbyterian church is to be opened that is costing $300,000. A new choir school building costing $200,000, a new synod hall costing $350,000, and new churches costing $1,000,000, the last two Episcopal, make up most of the balance. All of these are exclusive of church buildings in the suburbs of New York which is going on at a normal rate, and in part on borrowed money. Some named represent solely downtown districts—the Protestant interest in some measure keeping pace with hotel, apartment and left construction.

CHRISTENED "IN THE JORDAN"

Water Used at Ceremony Was Brought From Palestine Twelve Years Ago.

Atlantic City.—Water taken from the River Jordan 12 years ago by his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Richard Dew, was used in St. James' Protestant Episcopal church for the christening of Joseph Bow Bartlett. He is the son of Robert Bartlett, cashier of the Western City National bank, and grandson of Mayor and Mrs. James T. Bow of Western City, and Under Sheriff and Mrs. Joseph R. Bartlett.

Three grandmothers and a great-great uncle, Richard Codell of Germantown, were among those who witnessed the ceremony.

KATY EXHIBITING OKLAHOMA PRODUCTS

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 18, 1913.—At the close of the Dry Farming Congress at Tulsa the best of the exhibits of agricultural products of several counties were collected by representatives of the Industrial Department of the Katy and shipped to St. Louis and Kansas City for display in their City Ticket offices. These exhibits have been well arranged by the Katy, and are attracting a great deal of attention and much favorable comment. Several photographs of county exhibits at the Tulsa Congress are displayed with the exhibits. A very splendid display of Oklahoma corn is being made, as well as an exhibit of all the sorghums, small grains and cotton. There is also an exhibit of Oklahoma apples, melons and vegetables.

The Katy purchased the prize winning exhibits of Canned Fruits and Vegetables shown at Tulsa, which were put up by girls from Logan county under the direction of the teachers in the United States Department of Agriculture Girls Canning Clubs. This canned goods will be presented by the Katy to the pupils of the St. Louis and Kansas City High schools at the close of the exhibit.

The drought conditions prevailing in Oklahoma have been so magnified in some reports that a wrong impression regarding the agricultural production in the state has gone abroad and it is the desire of the Katy, by means of the display they are now making, to show the productivity of the soils of Oklahoma and the character of farm products which are actually obtainable by the proper methods of cultivation, even during drought years.
